The news of the killing of the Chancellar of the Japanese legation at Pekin was profound shock to the diplomatic world here. It has intimated, as nothing else could, the unminent danger in which all other Ministers and officers at Pekin stand. The political effect of the fact is stated here to be that Japan would be justified in hurrying to Pekin an army as large as she can gather. Remey's Call for Marines.

Another feature to-day is that Admiral Remey has cabled for a battalion of marines to be sent forthwith to the Philippines. The Navy Department, on the receipt of the cablegram, sent orders to the marine barracks here and at Boston and League Island to make preparations for the dispatch of these marines. About 250 will be sent, probably by way of San Francisco. General Corbin, commenting on this crder, said that he presumed that as the marines were to be employed in the Cavite Peninsula, and at Olongapo, places mentioned by Remey, parts of MacArthur's this bulletin;

The dead are Mrs. George Koon, Mrs. J. S. Pation and Mrs. Willam Burtch. It is impossible at present to obtain a complete list of the injured, but among those hurt most severely are George Koon, Mrs. Dan Conkling and Mrs. George White.

There was an exhibition lodge drill at the Auditorium last night, with half the town in attendance. The last car left the Auditorium with fifty persons on it, at 12:20, and reached the Santa Fe crossing ten minutes later. The conductor ran ahead to see if all was clear, signaled that it was, and the car started across. Just as it was on the track, a freight backed squarely into it, overturned the car and crushed and maimed the occupants.

Coroner Lloyd began the taking of testimony yesterday at the inquest to fix the esponsibility for the shooting of C. Edward Thomas and George Rine in the riot on Washington avenue in front of the posse

Although S a. m. had been set as the hour for the hearing the taking of testimony was not commenced until 8:39, on account the absence of several witnesses. At 5 p. m. the inquest was adjourned until 8 a. m

The statements as to what caused the shooting were contradictory. Especially was the testimony of James Kietz of Toledo, O., and W. H. Cassilly, eye-witnesses of the shooting, at variance with the testimony of Colonel J. H. Cavender, Adjutant Robinson of the posse. The attempts of the officers and the deputies to identify the man that threw the brick which is said to have caused the shooting were not successful. None of the witnesses was willing to swear that any of those suspected was the guilty man.

Colonel Cavender and other officers of the posse were sure that the trouble had been precipitated by a striker who threw a brick, and that the deputies did not shoot until they had been fired upon. Attempts to identify the brick thrower were not suc-

Those who represented the strikers among the witnesses declared that they did not see a brick thrown and that the deputies shot first.

Gardner McKnight and George W. Cox, members of Company F of the posse, were held as defendants by the Coroner, when they appeared at his office. In the police report of the riot Captain Kiely named McKnight as the deputy who had fired the shot which killed Thomas. Doctor Lloyd said he would hold Cox because of certain state ments attributed to him, which are supposed to have been made immediately after the trouble on Washington avenue.

When the inquest was adjourned for the day at 5 p. m. Coroner Lloyd allowed Cox to go, but held McKnight a prisoner. The taking of testimony will be resumed to-morrow morning.

Chief of Police Campbell yesterday notified President Whitaker of the transit e pany that the police would be taken from all the cars to-day and returned to their beats. S. C. PATTERSON'S THROAT SLASHED.

President of Local Street Railway Union Fought With Ed Canty, Union Machinist.

Men Had Quarreled Before and Re newed the Difficulty on the Sidewalk-Wound Is Very Serious.

In a fight with Edward Canty, a union machinist, in front of the A. B. C. saloon at No. 110 North Brozdway, late last night, Sherman C. Patterson, president of the local Association of Amalgamated Street Railway Employes, received a cut in the neck which is considered very serious, if not fatal, Street to stop me, and i ran north on Sixth street to pieck which is considered very serious, if not fatal, machinist, in front of the A. B. C. saloon George B. Webster and Orderly W. S. cal Association of Amaigamated Street

From the statements of men who were in the saloon it appears that the two quarreled earlier in the evening, although they did not come to blows.

Patterson was with Louis Doebler, member of the Executive Committee of the Street Railway Employes' Association, who lives at No. 3325, South Seventh street. As they passed out of the place, Patterson met Canty, who had preceded them to the sidewalk. They had a few words, which Doebler could not understand. A moment later they were fighting, and Doebler saw a knife flash and heard Patterson say:

"For God's sake, Louis, I am done for. Get him!" Doebler started for Patterson's assailant. Cauty immediately turned north and ran up Broadway. He was pursued to the allay on Pine street between Broadway and Sixth street. Several men had joined in the chase, and he was caught in an alley on Pine street, between Broadway and Sixth street Canty was removed to the Chestnut Street Police Station. He acted as if un-

Putterson was assisted to a drug store at the corner of Market street and Broadway. He was placed on a chair and the blood streamed from the wound in his neck, forming in a pool on the tiled floor. The ambiliance ambulance was summoned and I was removed to the City Hospital. Canty belongs to East St. Louis Council No. 555 Machinists' Union.
